MEET THE EXPERTS

From Concept to Printed Piece with master printer Alan Runfeldt

Join us as we follow a master printer through our new exhibit, "Hot Off the Press". He will demonstrate printing a job from beginning to end using the tools, skills and resources of a typical job printer in America from 1900-1980. His demonstration will take the group through a print shop - first defining the job to be printed, then selecting and setting the type to print it, locking up the form in a chase, selecting paper and mixing up a colored ink, setting up the press and actually printing a job using the treadle-powered hand-fed platen press on display in The Printery of NMIH - all the while sharing historical anecdotes related to Letterpress Printing.

SATURDAY JUN 16 | 11AM TO 12PM

The Meet the Expert series will take place on the third Saturday of each month. This unique opportunity to hear thematic talks from experts in their respective fields will include a 45-minute lecture and 15-minute Q&A. Meet the Experts is included in your admission price and is free to all members of the museum.
